Temple, of Washington, will be the speaker at the commencement exercises of the commercial department of high school to be held at the high school auditorium on Monday evening, May 21. Congressman Temple was invited by Superintendent T. L. Pollock to come and has just sent his acceptance. On Tuesday night Chancellor Samuel B. McCormick of the University of Pittsburgh will make the address at the graduating exercises of the academic department. The first event of the high school commencement season will be that of the class play, which will be given Friday night of this week at the high school auditorium. Seniors are now working on the preparation for this momentous event.

The date for the commercial department was changed from May 26 to May 24 because of the former law having been selected as the picnic date. Surprise has been occasioned here by the news of the marriage last fall of Miss Mollie Craven daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Craven of Beallsville, and Lewis Hay of Pittsburgh. The couple were married last September, but they have succeeded in keeping the news of their wedding secret. Only within the last few days did it leak out. Mrs. Hay was born and raised in the Beallsville community, being a member of a well known family. She was formerly a milliner at the store of Mrs. Emma Dawson on Fallowfield avenue.

CHARLEROI GIRL NOW IN AUSTRIA

Writes of Experiences in War-Stricken Country—
Says Russians Are Good

SAYS TOO THEY ROBBED JEWS

Dated March 2, a letter has been received lately from Anna Kawelkewicz, a Charleroi girl who with her father, Andrew Kawelkewicz has been visiting in that war-stricken country at the town of Wess Komaneza. In her letter she has little to say regarding the war, probably because of the activity of censors, but she discusses to some extent affairs of particular interest to her and her people. The last letter she received from her according to her missive was one written June 23, 1914.

In part she says: "I am homesick for old America, and all of my old friends. The Russian soldiers came into our town first, and they were good to us, but they took all the cattle from the people. They only left one cow for every house. In the town where Uncle Pete lives there were many killed and they burned many houses."

"The Russians are in town for about the fifth time. The Czars' folks came here and robbed the Jews and some of our people. Tuesday morning when I was through washing clothes, a soldier called me and asked me where was my mother. I told him in America. He asked me when I had heard from her and I replied, about eight months ago. Then he asked me if I could write. I told him I could and he told me to write and he would take the letter through Prussia for you."

BUNCO SCHEME WORKED IN DONORA BY NEGRO

Collects for Uniform After Engaging Boy for Job That Wasn't to be Had—Plan Worked in Charleroi
Some Weeks Ago

The negro who pulled off a slick confidence game in Charleroi a number of weeks ago and who successfully eluded the police of the several towns in the valley, has come to life again and has pulled off another smooth stunt.

This time the game was pulled off between Monongahela and Donora. On Sunday the negro went to Donora where he interested a young negro named John Law in his game. He told the boy and his father that Harold Colline, the messenger boy at the Monongahela P. R. R. station was quitting and that he had been sent out to engage another boy. He stated that he had been with the company for 15 years and was a trusted employee.

By his slick conversation he interested the Law family and then stated that the boy would have to buy his uniform which would cost $14.00. So stated that the family would have to give him that amount of money and that the uniform would be at the local station when he came to work.

The money was given the man and he left, telling the boy to report to Station Agent Sorrick at Monongahela Monday morning. This was all there was known of the cases until Monday when the boy put in an appearance ready for work. It was then that the story came out.

The officers in all the towns are looking for the negro but as yet he is unfound. This is the second job of the kind that he has pulled off within two months and the story is that he is from Monongahela or is well acquainted there, as he uses names and places with a familiarity that only comes with long association. The last time he engaged a colored man in Charleroi to drive a car for a Monongahela business man and collected the money for the uniform in advance.

CANAL BILL PASSED FINALLY BY HOUSE

Important Waterway Measure Goes Through at Harrisburg in Spite of Objection of Railroad and Other Interests

The Lake Erie and Ohio River Ship canal bill passed finally this morning in the House of Representatives at Harrisburg in spite of certain opposition originating among railroad and other interests of the Pittsburgh district. The bill will give people the right to vote for or against actual construction of the canal through Western Pennsylvania to form a connecting link between Pittsburgh and Lake Erie ports.

Members of the Pennsylvania Canal commission, including Tom P. Sloan of Charleroi were at Harrisburg when the bill went through and lobbyists for the opposition were there and busy, as they had been for several days.

The canal bill, as it is passed is considered a most important one, and will be a means for getting the projected waterway construction work under way provided of course that Gov. Brumbaugh approves the bill, and the people approve the movement, as it is believed they will.

FORMER CONGRESSMAN TEMPLE
SAYS SITUATION IS UNCHANGED

Advises Cool-Headedness in Dealing With Present Situation—Authority on International Law.

Dr. Henry W. Temple, former congressman from this district, professor of international law at Washington and Jefferson College, and a re-organized authority on the legal relationships between nations, believes the sinking of the Lusitania has not materially changed the international situation except as it may have tended to change and mould public sentiment. In a statement he urged restrained public expression, cool-headedness and a policy of non-interference with the administration in dealing with the situation.

HOSPITAL FUND FROM STORE $224

Charleroi-Monessen Institution Receives That Sum
From Benefit

PEOPLE OF COMMUNITY HELP

Net proceeds from "Ye Old Country Store," conducted last week at the Hunter Shows by the Board of Directors and the Ladies Auxiliary members of Monessen were $224.97 which was fully up to all expectations. There is but one expense to be deducted from this amount before it is turned over to the hospital, that is for carpenters to tear down the building, and the cost of any lumber that was sawed or damaged beyond use. The Charleroi Lumber company, which has done considerable repair work about the hospital this year, kindly donated the use of the lumber as well as the hauling, charging only for labor and what lumber cannot be used again.

Saturday night at the close of the store Harry C. Hunter donated $25 in cash to the receipts, which is included in the above amount. He expected and desired to do considerable more, but the weather had been so bad both for his shows and the store that the committee did not feel like accepting a greater amount.

To the merchants of Monessen and Charleroi who so freely donated articles for the store and particularly to the women of the Ladies Auxiliary and young women of the two towns who so ably and loyally assisted is credited the success of the enterprise.

The amount realized will be turned over to the hospital at tonight's meeting.

Monongahela Railway Company the Name Officially Approved by Commission

OBEY IS SUPERINTENDENT

Brownsville Man Who is Now in Charge of Monongahela Railroad
Operation to be in Charge of New
When it Opens in Short Time.

With the approval by the Public Service commission within the last few days of the position for the merger of the Monongahela Railroad company and the Buckhannon and Northern Railroad company under the name of the Monongahela Railway company is expected to come within a few days a definite announcement of the date for the beginning of service between Brownsville and Fairmont. Had the approval of the merger not been long delayed, service would have been started the first of April. Passes over the Monongahela Railroad since March 1 have borne the name "Monongahela Railway company."

It is expected that operation will be started within the next 60 days. The line, under the new arrangement will be operated as a single property and will be in charge of the officials of the old Monongahela Railroad company. G. B. Obey, with headquarters in Brownsville is the superintendent.

J. L. Turner is president of the Monongahela Railroad company and will be the executive in complete charge of the operation of the new road for the present. It is stated in railroad circles, however that soon after the completion of the merger arrangements, Col. J. M. Schoonmaker will succeed Mr. Turner as president.

Some railroad officials are of the opinion that operation of the new railroad up the Monongahela river will begin within 30 days. Many of the tariffs have already been made out. The company is owned jointly by the Pennsylvania and the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroad, each company owning 50 per cent of the stock.

AN ENVYABLE RECORD.

The Pennsylvania legislature, now hurrying to final adjournment, has made an enviable record. It has accomplished much, but it also has prevented the enactment of much legislation generally. Last year's session and this year's are no exception.

The failure to enact a law giving to the people the right and privilege of voting on the question of local option was the only legislative fly in Gov. Martin G. Brumbaugh's official ointment. Gov. Brumbaugh labored as no other Pennsylvania governor has ever labored to get through the enactment of local option legislation.

Gov. Brumbaugh's child labor law leads the way throughout the entire country in its provisions to protect the children of this state. This bill was the governor's legislative child, and its enactment is the best guarantee that the governor's platform pledges as well as the platform pledges of the Republican party have been kept and are in the keeping of a safe and sane party organization.

The workingmen's compensation bill is another forward step in helpful and healthy legislation. The governor has insisted upon its passage and the Republican majority in the legislature is redeeming its pledge to enact it.

The child's labor bill and the employers liability bill will stand out as the best that is possible in the way of popular legislation and is certain to crown as abundantly successful Gov. Brumbaugh's administration.

SUNLIGHT

For the vast majority of plants sun is an absolute necessity. They cannot grow and thrive without it. It is of almost equal importance to human beings though comparatively few people recognize the fact, says the state health commission.

When we walk into a house where the sun streams through the windows and brightens everything, instinctively we say, "what a cheerful place."

The stimulating effects of sunshine are difficult to estimate but they are nevertheless a potent factor in maintaining our physical and mental health.

It has been said that suicides are more prevalent following a period of rainy and depressing weather and figures have been advanced to show that they are more common among people who have rooms with a modern exposure lacking sunlight.

We all know how one's spirits are depressed by a succession of rainy days but we lack a full appreciation of the value of sunlight in our homes.

The germs of tuberculosis for example will not survive for any length of time if exposed to the sun's rays. It is a mistake to so protect our windows with shutters or curtains as to make it impossible to secure the maximum of sunlight. This is especially true in the fall and winter when the days are short, but at all seasons of the year sunlight is invigorating and stimulating and almost as much a necessity as fresh air.

The planting of trees so close to houses that they shut off the sun's rays is a mistake from a health standpoint.

Sun rays are beneficial in stimulating the functions of the skin, sometimes to a degree and it enables it to resist the attacks of bacteria.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

Some of the things which are picked up in passing are the following: A man who is a little out of his mind, a woman who is a little out of her mind, a child who is a little out of his mind, and a dog who is a little out of his mind.

"What's that?" suddenly demanded the second man, something said to a deafening glare.

"I merely wish to call your attention to the point of your amorous, gently answered the good Samaritan. "You are jamming it to the eyes of the man behind you."

"Oh, that's all right," was the quick response of the party with the parking. "He is my husband."

A weary looking hobo begged for something to eat at the back door of a home, and was given a whole pie. In less than two hours he was back on the same doorstep.

"Lady," said he, when the good housewife answered the timid knock, "would you be kind enough to give me the recipe for that mince pie what you handed me this morning?"

"For mercy's sake, man!" exclaimed the astonished housewife. "What do you want that recipe for?"

"To settle a bet, lady," answered the hobo. "My partner says you use three cups of cement to one of molasses and I claim you use only two and a half."

Tells of Life in Vienna

Wherein Conditions Are Different From Those That Prevail in American Cities.

Life in Vienna offers many incongruities to the American. First, he will find, unless he has taken the precaution to equip himself with large sums of money, that he cannot possibly afford to live anywhere except in a flat. No one except the nobility and extremely rich foreigners can hope to have a whole house to himself.

He will find that he can ride upward in an elevator, but that he must walk down. He will find that if he wants to see anything of the place, and how its inhabitants enjoy themselves, he must stay out all night. When he comes home late he must tip the doorkeeper in order to get into his own house.

The people frequent the cafes of Vienna so constantly that peddlers of linen derive a smart income from sales to be used on the spot. The guest who is accepting hospitality may decline to have a drink, but in all likelihood he will accept a clean collar.

In Vienna the retired chorus girls are pensioners, the flower girls are grandmothers and the messenger boys are men. These grown-up messenger boys are known as "commissioners." They are dressed in distinctive uniforms and are licensed to perform many kinds of work other than running errands. It would doubtless be more correct to style them "men of all trades." Witness the varied and unusual service rendered by one of them in a single day.

His first job was to rebottle some wine; then he cleaned a pipe for an invalid bachelor. After that he clipped a dog for an actress; next he beat a carpet for a boarding-house keeper; then he carried a cabman's horse, polished an officer's sword, and after packing a trunk for a departing traveler wound up the day by helping a plumber deliver a bathtub.

Yet the "commissioner" did not hesitate to complain of the times. He was quite willing to be quoted as stating that he hoped conditions would improve soon so that he might be kept busy.

HIGH ANGLE FIRE FAVORED

German Naval Authorities Have Provided Ability to Elevate to an Extreme Degree.

The usual range of elevation for the guns of the main battery of warships is from 5 degrees below the horizontal to 15 degrees above; but the Germans have given to their guns big and little, the ability to elevate to 30 degrees above the horizontal, or even more than that. The object of this was to enable the guns to be elevated above the horizontal, even when the ship, due to penetration below the water line, has listed several degrees toward the enemy—a very wise provision. This arrangement has conferred the added advantage of greatly increasing the range, and the result was shown in the Falkland islands fight when the 8.2-inch shells of the "Schuylers" reached and several times struck the British battle cruisers at a range which was probably between 14,000 and 16,000 yards. At that distance the falling angle of the German shells is stated to have been fully 35 degrees.—Scientific American.

Rehabilitation of Belgium.

The famous old guildhall of London has been the scene of some wonderful meetings in the past, but surely none of them can vie in strangeness with that when Belgian architects and engineers and civil authorities met those of England to confer with them about the rebuilding and town planning of almost a whole devastated country, which six months ago was one of the most beautiful and well ordered in all the world.

The International Garden Cities and Town Planning association is responsible for the conference.

There are two hundred architects and surveyors among the refugees here, and it is these men who are now working hard in conjunction with their English brethren to revive some scheme, whereby, it is hoped, Belgium may be restored to her former beauty and usefulness.—London Mail.

Red Jacket to Rout Rats.

Pointers on how to get rid of the ubiquitous rat, from sewing a red jacket on him to dipping him in tar, are contained in a bulletin issued by the Massachusetts state board of agriculture, and compiled by Edward H. Fortush, state ornithologist. The following advice as to how to conduct an exterminating warfare is contained in the bulletin:

"Use cats, terners, particularly the fox terrier, and ferrets: sew a red jacket on a captive rat, or paint him, then release him; place a collar and bell on a live rat, and release him; dip him in tar, and liberate him; also place tar in rat holes, runs, and burrows."

Ostrich Feathers Cheaper.
Ostrich feathers took a slump recently on the Australian market, and many farmers are selling their birds. It is reported that as a consequence there is likely to be a considerable surplus of lucerne which has been grown to feed them, and a proposal is on foot to establish an export trade in this fodder. This, however, is not meeting with unanimous support, as it is considered by many that the product should be utilized in the country for the feeding of dairy and other stock.

HOLY FLAG OF MOHAMMEDANS

Unfurling of "Sacred Banner" May Have Dire Effect Upon the Nations of the World.

In the inmost precincts of the old seraglio at Stamboul (Constantinople) the flag of the prophet is kept in safety. Only on proclamation of a holy war is it unfurled to the eyes of a reverential multitude of believers, though without being removed. Its staff is closely set with golden nails and covered with green velvet. The flag of green silk is richly embroidered in gold with mystic scrolls and texts from the Koran. According to tradition the silk material originally served as curtain to the tent of Aisha, Mohammed's favorite wife. Thence it was treasured by the Ommajades in Bagdad, and brought to Cairo by the Abbassides.

In the year 1517, when Sultan Selim I conquered Egypt, he transferred it to Damascus, where the throngs of pious pilgrims on their way to the sacred shrine could do it homage. Murad III, invading Hungary, carried it in the midst of his army to inspire courage. The mosque of the seraglio became its depository in 1595, in charge of Sheikh ul Islam, the religious head of Mohammedanism.

It was last unfurled in 1826, when Sultan Mahmud planned the destruction of the Janissaries. Neither the Russo-Turkish nor the Balkan wars of recent years gave cause sufficient to the Moslem church elders to assume the responsibility of proclaiming a "holy war." Its unfurling arouses the fanaticism of all believers to frenzy. Every Moslem then must fight—fight a outrage.

Young or old, well or ill, rich or poor, married or single, busy or idle, you must obey the call. You must leave home, children, wife, all social relations are set at naught, all obligations ignored; you must follow where you are led, go where you sent, do what you are ordered. No other consideration holds. It means a life-and-death struggle engaged in by nearly 200,000,000 men throughout Asia, Africa even in Europe.

Lime-Loss in Tuberculosis

In the Journal of the American Medical Association (January 17, 1915) was the following: "It has been many times stated that in tuberculosis or in the pre-tuberculous stage, an increased amount of calcium (lime) is lost, both in the urine and feces. In fact, a demineralization has been thought to be a forerunner of the development of tuberculosis."

"Forced feeding of tuberculosis patients and the consumption of eggs and milk once given such patients are not now considered advisable by a large number of physicians who are specializing in the treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis."

If tuberculosis is due to a loss of lime from the system, the success of Eckman's Alternative in the treatment of this disease may be due, in part, to the fact that it contains a fine salt so combined with other valuable ingredients as to be easily assimilated.

Always we have urged users of Eckman's Alternative to attend strictly to matters of food.

In addition to rest and proper diet, some effective remedial agent seems to be needed, and in numerous cases of apparent recovery from tuberculosis and kindred throat and bronchial affections Eckman's Alternative has supplied this need.

It does not contain opiates, narcotics or habit-forming drugs, so it is safe to try. Your druggist has it or will order it, or you can get it from us direct.

New Old Slang.
Modern slang isn't necessarily new. It has been pointed out lately that "good night" in its modern slang sense, appears in Shakespeare in "Henry IV," part 1: Worcester, speaking of the danger of the conspiracy (act 1, scene 3), refers to the peril of one who should attempt to overtake "a current roaring loud, on the unsteady footing of a spear." Hot-spur continues, "If he fall in, good night!"

In connection with the Washington anniversary it may be recorded that as a young man Washington wrote: "I heard the bullets whistle, and, believe me, there is something charming in the sound." That "believe me" is almost modern enough for a moving picture show.

GREAT CHANGE IN WARFARE

That of Fifty Years Ago is Wonderfully Different From the Present European Conflict.

You have only to talk with some Civil war veteran about his campaigns to realize that in many ways war of today is exactly the reverse of war 50 years ago.

The soldier of 1862 had to endure many weary marches. He had to make the best of a camp life that often stretched over long and monotonous weeks. Food was of the roughest, being chosen more because it could be transported easily, and did not easily spoil, than because of its nutritive value. Battle when it came was welcomed. It broke the routine of standing guard, drilling, marching and performing disagreeable camp duties. There were hours of hard fighting, dramatic moments of heroism, flag waving and shouting and cheering. Then the battle was over and the wearisome round of preparing for more battle began again.

In the war in Europe, every ounce of a soldier's energy is saved that can be saved by transporting him by train and motor car. Food of the best is supplied him, even if that means the citizen population must live on short rations. Instead of preparation for battle occasionally broken by battle, there is now almost continuous battle, only occasionally broken by truce or marching. The firing lines are engaged in firing virtually all the time. Flag waving has ceased. There is no more of that spurring by appeals to hot temper and patriotism, so essential a duty of the old-time general, to perform.

The Civil war veteran grew tired of death of waiting. He prayed for action. The modern soldier wears of the roar of cannon, the rattle of musketry. He prays for rest.

KEEPING FAITH WITH ELECTORS

Passage of Child Labor Bill
Carries Out Promise.

PLEADED IN G. O. P. PLATFORM

Republican State Committee Gave People Assurance of Such a Law, and Its Enactment Reflects Credit Upon Party—Mothers' Pension Increased Appropriation Is Another Pledge That Is Being Lived Up To.

Harrisburg, May 11.—In the passage of the child labor law through the legislature the Republican party may be credited with adding another chapter to its pledge-keeping record. The Republican state committee at the Pittsburgh meeting in September, 1914, promised to enact a child labor bill satisfactory to the associations advocating shorter hours for minors.

This promise was fulfilled when the general assembly, composed as it is of 202 Republicans out of a total membership of 257, put through the Cox bill.

Though manufacturers attack the measure as unjust and do not hesitate to mince words in telling how votes were gotten in support of it, the belief prevails among disinterested people that the law will not work the hardships anticipated by the owners of industries. There will be some difficulty in the beginning, but as soon as the readjustment period passes the defects will probably be ironed out.

It is pointed out by proponents of the Cox bill that the Massachusetts child labor law, after which it is patterned, disturbed business in that state for only a short time; that at present everybody has adjusted himself to the new conditions and the statute is doing a lot of real good in providing education to children who previously to its passage were compelled to make way for older persons.

The Pennsylvania law calls for fifteen hours a week for children between fourteen and sixteen years, with one day off for vocational education. This is in effect a forty-three-hour measure.

Manufacturers claim that under the new law they cannot afford to employ any children at all under sixteen years of age, and that these minors will be forced to make way for older persons, who are allowed to work fifty-four hours a week. A recent statement in connection with the new law: "There is only one redeeming feature in the new act, and that is its absurdity is so marked, the motives behind it are so clear, the means used to jam it through were so contemptible and the crime—social and economic—of its enforcement will be so notorious, that it will serve as its own antidote."

The law takes effect next January, and as but one year will elapse from that time till the next meeting of the legislature, it can very easily be repealed, if it is found to work as much wickedness as predicted by the manufacturers. A trial of twelve months cannot do very much harm.

Senator Charles Snyder led the fight against the bill in the upper branch. He ridiculed the idea that children are being crushed by the wheels of industries in Pennsylvania and that the people whom the law affects—most poor people—are not asking for it.

The bill was defended by Senators Ware, Hilson, McNichol and others. They stated that the proposed law is feasible in every particular and in the long run will be found to be doing the greatest good for the greatest number. In connection with the child labor law, the legislature increased the mothers' pension from $100,000 to $150,000, a really means that for the coming two years $500,000 will be paid out to widowed mothers. There is a possibility, even more than $400,000 being appropriated, and it would not be surprising if the total that goes into the fund—state and county appropriations—will be nearer $1,000,000 than $500,000.

It is gratifying to know that this mothers' pension increase was one of the planks of the last Republican platform. That the party was able to successfully underwrite an action of this kind, which means so much in reducing poverty in these Democratic days, is a source of much satisfaction to say the least.

At this writing it looks as if the close of the legislature will find that every pledge made during last fall's campaign that the platform was prepared merely for the candidates to run upon rather than as an instrument to be carried out by the party.

LEGISLATURE IS NEARING THE END

Next Week Expected to Mark
Close of 1915 Session.

WORKING ON COMPENSATION

Proposed Law Is in Hands of Senator Crow—He Wants the Rights of Everybody Protected—Moving Picture Censor Bill, Cold Storage Repealer and Lawyer-Protection Law Features of Harrisburg Doings.

Harrisburg, May 11.—With the workmen's compensation act as the single piece of big legislation still to be disposed of and the prospect of it passing in satisfactory shape exceedingly doubtful, the legislature may now be said to be working on the second session of the last year. Unless every sign goes away it should all go down finally next week.

Senator Crow, chairman of the senate corporation committee, is putting the finishing touches to the workmen's compensation law. He and the governor agree on its main provisions, and any changes that may be made in the bill as it passes the house is expected to meet with little opposition.

Though recognizing the necessity of a real compensation act, one that will be enforceable to the letter, Senator Crow, at the same time, is anxious that no injustice be done to the employer. Manufacturers, farmers and small employers have rights that must be respected by the legislature and, in the opinion of Senator Crow, it will not do to put through a compensation law that will tend to break down industries and cause apprehension in the minds of agriculturists and others who are compelled to engage help in the operation of their business.

Protects the Lawyer.

A bill that has made glad the hearts of most lawyers in Pennsylvania has been signed by Governor Brumbaugh. It provides that no corporation against which a suit for damages has been brought may settle with the plaintiff behind the back of the plaintiff's attorney. In other words, it protects the lawyer in his fee.

This bill was introduced in the house by Representative David Thomas, of Wilkes-Barre, who, by the way, is not an attorney at all, but a detective. Thomas says that it is just as wrong to cheat a lawyer as a grocer, a dry goods merchant or a butcher; that the new law is aimed against claim agents who surreptitiously sneak around to a client, lay out a cash settlement and secure a release. Sometimes the client is done a great injustice and the lawyer does a greater one, for he gets absolutely nothing for the trouble and expense he is put to in bringing the suit.

The new moving picture censor bill that passed both houses after considerable difficulty will do much to increase the efficiency of the act of 1911, under which the first board was created. Instead of two censors, the new act calls for three, to be paid salaries of $2000, $2500 and $2400 respectively.

According to the bill the cost of examining each film, reel or set of views is $1, which is $2 less than under the old act. For each day in an additional $1 will be collected. All the fees are to be turned into the state treasury.

Any member of the board, or any employee, is empowered to prevent the display of any reel or view not approved by the board. Any person violating the act and convicted before any magistrate, alderman or justice shall be fined not less than $25 nor more than $50 for the first offense. For subsequent offenses the fine shall be not less than $50 nor more than $100. In default of payment, the defendant shall be committed to prison for not less than ten days nor more than thirty days.

By a vote of 111 to 74 the house last week passed the Clark bill to repeal the cold storage act of 1913. As the senate put through the same measure six weeks ago, the bill only stays in the negative, it now goes to the governor. The latter will either approve the repealer, or sign a uniform cold storage act approved by the senate.

The legislation committee in the senate will, in effect, accomplish the same object—wipe from the statute books the unpopular 1913 law.

It was stated on the floor of the house that the legislature of Pennsylvania never passed an act more iniquitous than the 1913 cold storage law. Every person who has had experience with it has found that it protects and benefits the big backbones of Chicago and the cold storage houses of New York, New Jersey and Delaware, while injuring the interests of the consumer, grocer, farmer and commission merchant in Pennsylvania. There is little likelihood of the bill drawn to remedy some of the defects in the third class city commission government act passing this legislature. Shortly after the bill was introduced it was amended by the senate committee so as to eliminate from the present act the non-partisan election feature. This amendment is so bitterly opposed by senators representing a number of third class cities that the probability is that the bill will be defeated rather than permit it to go through with the non-partisan ballot wiped out.

SHOPPING AND BUYING

QUITE A DIFFERENCE BETWEEN THE TWO PROCEEDINGS.

One Way May Not Be Exactly as Interesting as the Other, But It Can Be Made Far More Satisfactory.

It is a fact that many of the women who are shopping at the time of the closing of the season are not buying at all. They are only looking at the goods and wondering what they will be like in the morning.

We Back Up Every Assertion We Make

What we say about low prices, quality considered, can be proven by examination of the garment. We make no extravagant claims—but we back every statement of low prices with merchandise that will stand the closest comparison.

We believe that every woman wants twenty dollars in value for every $20 invested, and the same of suits at other prices. We believe every woman knows that no one can give $20 values for $10.

That's why we are satisfied with the statement, "Quality Considered. Our Suits Are Cheapest," at $9.75, $12.50, $15 and up to $30

The same broad statement applies to our women's and misses' Spring Coats. We've a wonderful line of Coats in serges, poplins, checks and mixtures, so sensibly made yet so very pretty that every lady, miss and child needs one at—$5 to $15 for ladies' and misses; and $1.75 to $7.50 for children.

BOTH ORATORS AND WRITERS

English Newspaper Comments on Dual Qualities of Those Who Have Been Called Great.

An enticing subject for discussion is the writer as orator. It is, of course, undeniable that the mental processes belonging to two orders of expression are wholly different, but, says a correspondent of the Manchester Guardian, I should challenge very strongly the contention that the good writer is seldom a good speaker.

Putting aside Burke, Gladstone, Bright and others who cannot properly be put into classes, I submit that the number of modern writers who have been fine speakers is very large. Canning and Disraeli could write and speak equally well. Macaulay, although, as you remark, he memorized his speeches, was among the great parliamentary orators of the reform era. The memorizing, by the way, was not his fault. He could not help knowing word for word everything that he prepared and he accomplished the extraordinary feat of writing out for publication in his last years, when he was too ill for original work, the orations which he had spoken ten or twenty years earlier.

Coleridge his admirers thought, was a marvellous speaker. Dickens was almost without a rival after dinner. Public speaking was a torment to Ruskin as to Carlyle, but those who heard him never forgot the experience. Matthew Arnold was a poor speaker. Thackeray on the platform was pitiful. But let me suggest a few other examples. Lord Rosebery is an orator and an accomplished author. Mr. Palfour, when he likes, can write like an angel, and there are few more deadly debaters.

Lord Morley will live as a writer, but he has made great speeches. Lord Curzon writes exactly as he speaks, and with about equal facility and force in their entirely different ways Lord Haldane and Mr. Birrell enjoy the dual faculty. They consider Mr. Chesterton and Bernard Shaw, in certain respects the greatest master of public speech as of written English alive today. And not to extend the list, there is W. B. Yeats, in whom are combined poetic genius, a fine command of prose and a gift of speech which at its best is perfect.

BRIGGS AND BENDER WIN THEIR DISCHARGE

Burgess Woodward Explains Reason For Acquittal of Men Charged With Disorderly Conduct on Street Sunday Evening Recently.

Accused of creating a disturbance by fighting on McKean avenue near Fifth street Sunday evening, April 25, Willis Briggs of Monessen and Tony Bender both secured their discharge at a hearing before Burgess Woodward at the burgess' office Monday night. It was stated that the two men had engaged in an argument over a ring battle at the Charleroi skating ring the previous night, and that argument had led to an attempt to inflict blows. Language for which borough ordinances provide a fine was said to have been used, a disturbance was created and a crowd collected. Women were on the street at the time. Speaking of his administration of justice at the hearing, Burgess Woodward said: "It was an argument. It was not a fight, as I could determine from the evidence which I heard and I did what I thought was right in discharging both. Briggs might have struck at Bender, but I don't think he hit him. I depended largely on the testimony given by two witnesses."

PAPERS ARE FILED IN FOUR DIVORCE CASES

Charleroi Woman Asks Separation—Washington Woman Claims Desertion in Proceedings Against Her Husband.

Laura Belle Abel, of Charleroi, started divorce proceedings Monday against W. L. Abel. They were married February 5, 1891, living for a time at Shire Oaks. From there they moved to Granville, where they lived for five years. They then removed to Charleroi, where they were living when she alleges he deserted her.

In the divorce suit of Mrs. Harriet Kelly, of Washington against Orman Kelly, the testimony has been filed. They were married July 20, 1906, her maiden name being Hattie Collins. She was 19 years old at the time, and he was 20. She says that he failed to provide for her, drank a great deal, and she was often compelled to go to her mother's to get something to eat. Six years ago he left her, and has not since contributed to her support. They have one child, which was 15 months old when he left. She has heard from him three times since he deserted her. At one time he was arrested in Pittsburgh on a forgery charge, brought back to Washington and paroled, his step-father securing a settlement of the case. Later she heard he was at Columbus, Ohio. This was last year. On May 1, of this year she got a card, presumably from him, from Corregidor, Cavite, Philippine Islands. It had been mailed March 22, 1915.

Nathaniel Clark of Washington in a divorce libel filed, seeks separation from Margaret Clark. Desertion is alleged. They were married December 24, 1897, and lived together until June 19, 1913.

In the divorce action of Jacob Winickiewicz of Avella, against Margaret Winickiewicz, the respondent has filed an answer denying the allegations of the libellant that she has been guilty of cruel and barbarous treatment. They were married on February 9 last at Steubenville, O. She also asks for an allowance and counsel fees. A rule has been issued on the libellant.
